hmm, Mohammad is right, that's nasty... it is probably better to run the configure script "rootconfig.sh" with option --with-curses-incdir <...> --with-curses-libdir <...> in the configure line. This instead of hacking into the configure. What you can do, Rene, is write a patch for the juelich installation that changes the rootconfig.sh in the external package and put that in packman.

Johan.
