Hi Dima.

Let me make a clarification:

There are two concepts of how to proceed to the analysis level.

One is Microwriter & Eventreader, decoupling the data from the framework structure and having (like Klaus claims) a much faster access while analyzing.

The other way is PndAnalysis, using the framework file structure. This way I am following in my studies for now.

Both ways coexist at the moment.

Now to your changes: What do you intend to change?

In principle it should affect more the Pid package where all information is collected and passed to the MicroCandidate data format.

I hope that helps.

Ralf
