Dear base developers,

apparently there still is something going wrong with initializing the gGeoManager with the external geometry...

Actually, after calling FairRunAna::Init(), the gGeoManager pointer is still invalid. I did have to use the change in FairRunAna described above to make it work after all.

Apart from that I am very happy that I can work with only one macro now, so thanks again

Cheers

Felix