Subject: FairRunInfo_* is it possible to not create these files?

Dear all,

after installation of pandaroot nov11 release my sim, digi, reco, and pid macros produce additional files. The names of the files starts with "FairRunInfo_*" and they contain information about time and memory usage.

I understand that it is important information and some people may need it but I do background production and having another 40k files isn't what I want. Is it possible to not create these files when one don't need them?

Cheers,
Dmitry
