Dear all,

after a very successful doodle poll (43 people have answered) we have fixed the dates for the Panda Computing Week in Torino.
The workshop will start on Monday 23/7/2012 afternoon ~14:00 and will end on Friday 27/7/2012 lunchtime, ~12:00.

The registration is now open and all the interested people can start to fill the form. Let us remind you that the workshop is dedicated to beginning developers, thus a basic understanding on C/C++ programming is required. The deadline for registration is 15th June, for late-comers an additional charge will be added to the workshop fee. If you need an invitation letter let us know before 1st June so that we can arrange all the documents.

You can find the relevant information about location, transportation, accommodation, visa, and registration at the following link:

Best regards

Stefano and Johan
