No, there is no cross section included by default. What can be done is to add a weighting factor depending on the c.m. energy.

I have done such things in the elementary plugin for the p+N reactions

This can be done also in a macro, but one has to use makeDistributionManager() instead of the util class, i.e.

makeDistributionManager()->Add(....);