Hi,

you didn't do anything wrong. It looks like you don't have the geant3 directory. This is defined as an external package in our SVN repository. Sometimes it happens that it isn't downloaded automatically to some reasons we still don't understand.

To solve the problem you have to do an

svn update

in the source directory of the external packages. This should then download the geant3 source. After this step please rerun the configure script.

Ciao

Florian
