Dear Shyam,
I have to admit that simulation with strip sensors for LMD wasn't supported for some time, since we decide to move for design with pixel sensors and focused on it.
The task runLumi2Reco.C should be crushed with current trunk version, but not with error which you see.
Seems you didn't update all /lmd classes
But as I already said even if you do it now, it will crush.

I'll try to make simulation with strip sensor running again and inform you as soon as it will be done.
Sorry for delay in your studies.

Best regards,
Anastasia.
