Dear all,

there is the possibility to have an analysis tutorial session on Friday morning, h: 9:00-11:00, in parallel with the Collaboration board.

Since Klaus will give a "tutorial talk" during the computing session, the talk and the wiki page could be used as starter for analysers, with the close support of experts.

In this sense, I would like to ask you who could be interested in following such "tutorial session", and who could be available as "expert" to help and follow the others. Since me and Tobias will be most probably in the collaboration board, the help from other experts could be very appreciated!

If we reach a good "critical mass" number of followers and experts, I could ask for such time slot.

Please answer as soon as possible.
