I suggest to use the macros from $VMCWORKDIR/macro/run as a basis for your files. You could do a diff of the macros I sent you with the macros in macro/run from the PandaRoot svn revision I used for my analysis (I quoted that number at some point in my Master thesis) to get an idea of the code I added to the standard macros and then you can apply similar changes to the current version of the macros in the PandaRoot revision you are using right now.
