Hi Tayfun,

Well, you have to define "recently"
I have tried a lot of different things, so to be sure to give you a correct answer please let me know which processors are you using and which version of the repository you have (when was the last time you pulled it and compiled).
Also, let me know the dates of your experiment.. the Finger settings were changed at some point, so the checks to make and the best approach may depend on which settings you have