Hi,

if you have a debian based system you should have the file

/usr/include/x86_64-linux-gnu/zconf.h

or maybe in a directory defined by another triple (x86_64-linux-gnu) depending on your system. These directories are system include directories and header files placed there will be found.

If the file isn't there then you have to install the correct development package

apt-get install zlib1g-dev

Ciao

Florian
