When I click on a link contained in the notification emails send when a private message has arrived or a posting in a subscribed forum or topic is done I see the following behaviour:

The dialog "ERROR: you are not logged on" appears

I click in the login button and complete the login dialog after that I'm at the forum home page, and not, as I would expect, at the PM or posting page.

now, being logged in, I click again at the link in the notification email again, I end up in the "ERROR: you are not logged on" dialog

There is now way to get directly to the PM or posting which is advertised in the notification email. Is posted as problem in the FUD support forum.
