From Pjotr's presentation in Munich I took home that so far the Krakow group has used "Ptolemy Classic".

My understanding is, that the development of Ptolemy I has been frozen around 1998 and that since many years all effort is put into the Java based "Ptolemy II".

So I wonder what the reasons were (or are) to use Ptolemy Classic. Was it just due to an early start, or was it relevant that Ptolemy Classic is C++ based ?
