Dear all,

we will postpone the release of Vers. 2.0 for a few days.

On the EVO meeting next week (Nov 14) we will discuss, what is final, and what maybe not, and then decide what is inside the release (one point is that the release - among other objectives - also intended to be "stable", so we have to find the right compromise between what is new and what is stable).

If you already have the impression, that your code is ready, it would be nice if you just post a reply (i.e. even before the meeting) so that some of us can already try. Mohammad will already prepare the directories (svn path as discussed, "release/pandaroot/2_0_0").

For the already existing flowcharts, see

Talk to you all next week.

Soeren
