Hi Sebastian,

It seems that your libG4UIcommon.so has not been build in geant4 part of the compilation of fairsoft. Probably missing a system library like "libXmu(-dev)", I also had it on my Debian etch (virtual) machines. Just check your output log, or rerun by hand a "make" in the .../geant4/sources/ directory, and it will show up what is missing to build the UI library. Maybe as a request to Florian or Mohammad: could the configuration script of fairsoft check whether all the geant4 libraries were compiled properly?

Johan.
