Hi,

first of all, I have done a svn update and now I have only 9 warnings, my checks were updated.

BUT,

from svn I can see that the last update was done on 14/11 at 16:41, while on the dashboard the nightly and experimental compilations gives always "0" updates (the continuous gives the correct number) in almost all the machines.

Therefore, I think there is still something strange in the dash jobs, at least for experimental and nightly builds.
