

---

Subject: Re: user rights for svn and software release tools
Posted by Florian Uhlig on Fri, 23 Jan 2009 17:34:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi Bertram

Quote:

O.k.. This means that the developer has to provide / write the "CMakeLists.txt" file and all other things will then be done automatically. As far as I understood it the developer has to maintain this CMakeLists.txt manually. If one adds new classes, includes new files, etc. it is necessary to adjust this file.

Correct. But normally you only have to add new include directories and source files.

Ciao

Florian

---