Subject: Re: Full sim: all detected particles have PDG ID zero
Posted by Christian Leitold on Fri, 11 Sep 2009 13:26:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The problem is now gone -- Paul has changed the code a little bit, so that the TF1 object is not a data element of the class any more. Instead, it is only a global variable within the class implementation. I will still put the two different versions in a directory in the development branch since I'm really interested what the actual problem was.

Kind regards
Christian