Subject: Mailing lists or forum?
Posted by Harald Appelshaeuser on Thu, 08 Apr 2004 16:22:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear Mohammad and all,

All fine with me. I didn't mean to start a philosophical discussion, sorry. My point is: if the forum is not fit for the present case, why should it be for any future application? Of course, communication should always be fast and efficient... and I think this could be a good opportunity to test it. If it turns out to be inconvenient we may skip it.
But if the majority's personal taste is against it, it will never work and we may as well forget it right away. I'm sure in this case Walter will find more efficient ways how to spend his time.

Harry

P.S. Moderator fixed [url] statements.