1. No information at all about the transfer of the December data from CERN to GSI. It would be advisable to have a second person informed of details, in case of Kilian's absence.
According to the wiki page (http://wiki.gsi.de/cgi-bin/view/Grid/TransferRequestsToGsi) nothing significant has been copied so far.

2. Misha's speed tests will continue with the current tasks and data. On Friday new machines will become available and their disks will be configured particularly for the purpose of the speed tests.
The goal remains to use the test results in order to optmize the choice of hardware to be bought this year (decision until the end of January).

3. There are problems with a few of the alice batch machines. Some of them failed due to problems with the power supply. Consequently part of the data stored on gsiaf are currently unavailable.
