Subject: update stable branch

Dear all,

I made an update of the stable branch. At the moment, it is a snapshot of the latest trunk revision (r8695), which means that I did not yet changed the MVD code to the older revision. Ralf can you do this?

At the moment, there is only one machine (kvit14) which sends the nightly build and test results of the stable code to the dashboard. It would be nice if also on other sites a nightly build of the stable branch is done, so that we can check the integrity of the code. If possible, enable it on your site as well....

Greets,

Johan.

I have downloaded it this morning.
It compiles, but the reconstruction code crashes because of the problems of MVD reco hits (run_reco_tpccombi.C).

Yes, I know. I would prefer that the MVD experts decide which revision to keep for the stable release. So, please shout a revision number (8649?)

Johan.

Hello everyone,

the stable mvd package is now merged to the stable branch. I hope nothing is wrong for the other packages. My machine didn't show a problem concerning that.

Regards, Ralf.

Can I know why PndSttTrackFinderReal was removed from the stt compilation? Now the stt qa macros are crashing (of course).

ERRATA
The task was commented out only in the trunk, not in the stable.
I have recommited the "good" code in the trunk.

That is my fault. I removed them some long time ago from the stable, when it was still crashing etc. For some reason the merging didnt update that.... I will enable it again.

Johan.
