Seevogh looks down from here...
Can someone confirm this?

Seevogh itself is working,
but <http://research.seevogh.com/join?meeting=M2MvMB2D2aD9Ds9D9iDM92> fails to open also from GSI.

Hi Andreas,

I cannot access the website either. The old Evo website still works, maybe that helps... But the SeeVogh app itself seems to have its problems today anyway...

Kind regards,
Martin

When trying to start the java file, it needs to download some thing – which it can't (as the server seems to be down)...

But Koala is working...

I cannot get access both by EVO and SeeVaugh.

JAVA complains that a security manifest is missin g in the code.

The test room in DFN's webconf tool I set up is still open. Should we use this:
<https://webconf.vc.dfn.de/pandatemp/> ?
